

Solitude

Talk to yourself. For rest of the world Divine is there to take care. This will make you free from your ego(देहाभिमान). Making a person free either through salvation or service without expecting anything in reward is only experience and learning, for which your soul has decided to come here again and again. It is like going to same class till you pass the examination for that class.

Why it is like that? Answer is simple and clear. It is like that because every person on this earth plain, that is physical realm, is not only unique in nature due to his assignment for growing, but is the sparked out particle of bright light. We are free to call them by any name, as per your religious beliefs. But the truth of his existence will remain same. And the process of attraction to be like that will remain same. Ask anyone, everybody will say he or she wants to be like pure and perfect. But what happens in between due to which impulsiveness to do something which make this process slow and route to reach bright light became longer and difficult? simple explanation is because human life cycle has some compulsive arrangements of experiencing life and its challenges. One who come here has to face general challenges like birth trauma, growing appetite, old age trouble etc. Is there any way out? or we should be hopeless! Golden ray of hope is always waiting for us. Getting one birth itself is full of such opportunity. It is meant for our growing and learning only. If we want to grow and purify ourselves, we have to know what growth we want really, what is way out? We want to be like God particle and way out is simple. You for yourself know only, what impurities are inside you which restrict you to be like Divine. Your sub conscious knows everything you experience here in this life or any past times. Good and bad, everything. Even forget about it, just meditate and ask your inner core, what is way out. You will the simple answer.

It is not difficult to be like pure entity, that is Divine. Just relax and assess yourself. Find out the areas where you can operate with your days left in this life. If you come to your terms, you are moved in right direction. If goal is clear and you have taken right path, someday, you will reach there. That is sure. Sooner or later, hardly matters. Simple precautions, do not do any physical, mental or emotional manipulation. Do not force things to happen. Just let the things flow. Have patience and unconditional to what is happening all around. It is simple without ego; it is most hard with ego.

That is simple explanation what is the role of ego in our life. Actually, we are fixed in matrix of this life cycle, which is full of illusionary things. It makes it very difficult to get the real picture of truth. Reality of existence. But it is easy to be there once we go inside in meditative state. It will bring you to your real world, beyond the boundaries of this illusive one. Thereby we can find the answer of all questions and way out ahead. And this journey require solitude. This solitude is not loneliness. Absolutely not. Rather is the only way out to connect to rest of the world. We have only authority to connect to all. And that is via Divine, the source of all. So going to solitude to connect Divine is right path to connect rest of the world. Just try and share experiences if you can. It is highest point of happiness index.
